District will change funding system in July

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

"What ifs" and proposed plans transformed into realities for Romulus Community Schools Monday night when Superintendent William Bedell announced the district will go out-of-formula July 1, 1990.

In-formula school districts receive a large portion of funding from the state based on the number of students they serve and community millage rates.

In past years, district officials from Romulus and other in-formula districts have condemned the state for inequities in this system. Districts with declining student population or low property values receive less money than larger or wealthier ones, the officials claimed.

By going out-of-formula, Romulus school will rely on a completely different funding system. Only a small percentage of the district money will come from Michigan.

"When you're out-of-formula, you're almost completely dependent on your community taxes," said Joel Carr, assistant superintendent.

Numerous factors are creating this change, Carr said. Several tax abatements established to lure local developments will soon expire, bringing in more tax dollars to the community, he said.

Carr added the city is seeing more building growth, and the overall state equalized value of property within the city is growing.

These factors tie in with a reduction in student population. They increase the "value" of children - the district can spend more money on each of them, Carr said.

"You get in a community with tremendous growth but 500 more students, and the value of the child does not go up," Carr explained, saying that kind of community cannot go out-of-formula.

Now that the changes for Romulus are official, district officials want to explain the implications to city representatives.

"We're requesting a meeting," Carr said.

City actions, such as granting tax abatements, will directly impact an out-of-formula district.

A date for this district/city meeting has not been selected.

Developer discusses progress of Metro World Centre

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Llwyd Ecclestone Jr. told city officials Tuesday night his Metro World Centre development will be "completed but in good time."

The Florida-based developer agreed to discuss the 7.5-million square-foot project during a special meeting of the Tax Increment Finance Authority.

Plans for Metro World Centre describe an immense multi-use development containing hotels, apartments, shopping areas, a college facility and conference centers.

TIFA board members said Tuesday the city has already invested money toward improving the development site. They asked when Ecclestone intends to move ahead with the project.

"It has been a long process.

There is no shortcut today," Ecclestone said.

The developer said he has made a commitment to Metro Centre by putting up money to purchase land, clean the area and draw up plans.

Ecclestone claimed the nearly $1 billion project will create a $23 million tax base for the city in the next 12 to 15 years.

He also said his company has made an agreement with Cruise Landing, a residential developer, to construct condominiums at the Metro Centre.

But the Metro Centre is not a project than can be rushed, Ecclestone said.

"The first building we do may be the most important. It sets the tone," he said.

Before construction, Ecclestone said he wants a Vining Road interchange completed for Interstate-94 to provide easy access to the site.

City officials have spent years working toward state and federal approval for the expressway addition. They received approval in December, but a start date for construction has not been announced.

Meanwhile, the project is moving into the seventh year of planning.

The concept of a multi-use, high-image development was initially proposed in 1983 by newly elected Mayor Beverly McAnally. She said a development could be promoted for proximity to the airport, a location between Detroit and Ann Arbor and size.

Plans eventually evolved for a world college center. City officials teamed with a committee from Eastern Michigan University. The committee conducted market studies and drew up initial plans for the college project.

Since that time, city planners say, the university gained a new president, and enthusiasm for the project has cooled. The city is looking for a partner.

Ecclestone was brought into the picture in 1987 when he heard about the proposed project from a realtor involved with infrastructure improvements for the site.

A Michigan native, Ecclestone said Tuesday the project immediately intrigued him.

A TIFA was formed to fund improvements on the site necessary for a large-scale project. In a TIFA, city money is invested in a public improvement project. The authority is reimbursed by tax revenue generated by new developments within the improved area.

Man is charged in baby's death

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A 26-year-old Romulus man has been charged with second-degree murder in the death of his infant son.

Michael Anthony May was arraigned May 8 before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski. Bond was set at $100,000, and May was remanded to Wayne County jail in lieu of payment.

He was to appear in court again May 16 for a preliminary examination.

Romulus detectives interviewed May early May 8 in connection with the death of his son, Kyle. The infant was 3 1/2-months-old when he died April 22 of brain death and a broken neck.

Police first heard from the defendant April 20 when he called the emergency 9-1-1 number.

May reportedly told police his son stopped breathing after falling down a stairway. May, according to reports, told police he had been carrying the baby downstairs when he tripped and dropped him.

Rescue workers transported the baby to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. Upon arrival, the child was not showing vital signs. Hospital workers were unable to resuscitate him.

Later that day, Kyle was taken to the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

He died there at 10:08 a.m. April 22.

The Romulus Detective Bureau began investigating the case after the initial call. Detectives interviewed the child's 26-year-old mother, rescue workers, hospital staff and ultimately, the defendant.

Detectives also examined autopsy reports for the infant, which indicated he had several broken ribs in various stages of healing.

"There was the possibility of child abuse," said Romulus Detective Sgt. Daniel Snyder.

In his statement during a second interview with detectives, May said he was shaking the baby the day of the injury. May, according to police reports, said he threw the baby into his crib where the child hit his head.

May and his wife do not have other children.

If convicted of second-degree murder, May could face life in prison.

Area police academy offers local police departments easy access

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Officials from the Wayne County Regional Police Training Center gave the "thumbs up" Friday during a progress report before the Conference of Western Wayne County.

The Schoolcraft College training program, sponsored by the Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, is set to go.

Schoolcraft Dean Edwynna Dansby thanked CWW members for their support two years ago when she presented the training-center proposal and suggestions for a representative advisory committee.

"The academy functions with a very active, supportive advisory board," she said.

Serving on the committee are police chiefs from eight area communities, including Romulus and Van Buren Township.

Additional members include John O'Hair, Wayne County prosecuting attorney, and Anthony Shannon, department executive for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Police Academy Director Orville Kappen said the program is in the first week of instruction for the fifth academy class.

Students spend 14 weeks at the academy before graduation at a tuition cost of $1,525. Some of the students are sponsored by a community police department.

During the CWW presentation, Kappen presented a video tape summarizing the academy program. It featured testimony from graduating police recruits.

A typical day at the academy begins at 7:15 a.m., one student said. Classes are staged from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Exercise periods are scheduled throughout the day. Running sessions, for instance, cover one to six miles.

By the end of the day students have completed between 125 and 150 pushups.

Most of the students presented in the videotape said they like the discipline and high standards of the program.

Other key features mentioned were camaraderie, detailed lessons and the chance to role play.

One student said his class prepared him for a street beat by acting out a crime. Students portrayed suspects, witnesses and on-duty officers, he said.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Car rental shop OK'd

Romulus city councilmembers last week approved a special-use approval for Budget-Rent-A-Car to develop an auto rental and service facility at 8715 Wickham Road.

The facility was approved by the Romulus Planning Commission April 12.

Planned for a section of Wickham Road between Merriman and Interstate-94, the agency will also provide temporary parking for airport patrons.

Hotel to offer lingerie shows

Holiday Inn-Detroit Metro Airport will soon present lingerie shows in the hotel lounge.

Romulus city councilmembers approved an entertainment permit for the hotel last week.

Because Romulus businesses with an entertainment permit can also offer topless dancing, the permit application touched off debate among city councilmembers. Councilmen William Wadsworth and Ellis Pennington pointed out an entertainment permit was recently denied to a private Romulus club to prevent topless dancing.

Councilmember Noah Bergeron, whose wife is an employee of Holiday Inn, said the hotel is a family business and part of a nationwide corporation. Hotel officials are not likely to jeopardize their business reputation, he said.

The permit was approved with opposing votes from Pennington and Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear. Bergeron abstained from voting.

Storm sewer project begins

To facilitate the Super J Plaza development planned for 31370 Ecorse Road, city officials agreed to help with a storm-sewer project.

Approximately 45 feet of the new storm-sewer system will be maintained by Romulus.

This kind of service has been offered in past years to several other local businesses.

City officials have received a letter of agreement from Super J developers stating they would reimburse the city for maintenance of the sewer.

Help needed for softball

The Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation needs volunteer coaches for the summer youth softball program.

The department will also hire scorekeepers for the adult softball program.

For information about either position, call the recreation department, 942-6852.

Veterans to sell poppies

The American Legion Auxiliary Huron Valley Unit 231 will be on the streets in New Boston and Waltz today offering memorial poppies to the public.

On Poppy Days each year more than 25 million poppies made by disabled veterans are distributed throughout the country under supervision of the American Legion Auxiliary volunteer workers.

All contributions received through poppy days go directly to aid disabled war veterans or members of their families.

City considers tax abatement

Romulus city councilmembers June 4 will consider a tax-abatement application submitted recently by Edgewood Tool & Manufacturing Co.

Representatives from the company, located at 8900 Inkster Road, propose to add 20,000 square feet of manufacturing space to their facility. They also intend to enlarge the company engineering and technical space.

Approximately 15 new jobs are expected to be created by this addition within the next two years.

Councilmembers will review the abatement application during a public hearing at 6:15 p.m. June 4 at Romulus City Hall.

Report indicates stable city budget

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The city of Romulus will continue to tread water financially, according to the 1990/91 fiscal year budget proposal brought before city council Monday night.

Budget figures were placed under scrutiny during the council study session, and department leaders were on hand to answer questions.

Beginning with the general fund, the budget estimates a revenue total of $9,153,619 for the city next fiscal year.

Expenditures are expected to reach $9,898,883.

Those figures would create a deficit of $745,264, but the budget also includes a fund balance from the previous year -$1,324,391.

After that figure is added, the city can expect a budget surplus of $579,127 by the end of the new fiscal year.

The city generates money for the general fund with a millage rate of 10.9 mills.

The total State Equalized Value for the community is $470,867,820.

Present to discuss individual budgets were directors from the library, police, fire, recreation, community development, assessment, building and ordinance departments.

The police department will see changes in expenditures next year because of a shift in employees. Seven officers and one sergeant were transferred to the narcotics division. Their salaries now come from the city drug forfeiture fund.

Total monies allocated to the police department are $3,148,980.

Also seeing a change next year will be the city fire department. Chief William Greenslait said more money will be allocated for the firefighters.

The fire department allocation comes to $553,099.

The 1990/91 fiscal year budget will go before city council again before final approval is granted.

Cable company closes its Van Buren office

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Omnicom Cablevision representatives permanently closed their Van Buren Township offices this month and merged operations with the Romulus facility.

The Van Buren offices, located along the Interstate-94 Service Drive, had only been open Tuesday and Thursday before the office doors were closed for good.

"The amount of traffic has been minimal," said Omnicom General Manager Lisa Boland.

The costs of operating the little-used facility became too high, she said.

Customers can now direct service and billing questions to the Romulus facility, located at 12750 Huron River Drive, three miles from the Van Buren office.

"We hope by consolidating the manpower of the two offices it will be more convenient," Boland said.

Previously a one-person office, the Romulus facility now has an expanded staff to handle increased customer traffic.

With this larger staff, the Romulus office may soon be open during lunch time and after 5 p.m., Boland said. The expanded hours would be a plus to customers who work, she added.

At the beginning of next year, the Romulus and Van Buren systems will be tied together.

Customers with questions about these changes can call the Romulus office at 941-8171 or the main office in Canton Township, 459-7300.

Hoping to reach a new audience, former Romulus resident, Eric Moore (above), formed a church in Canton Township to deal with contemporary needs. Moore said church services will feature contemporary Christian music and a friendly atmosphere. ANP photo by Randy Frank

Former resident forms church to meet modern needs, concerns

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The pastor of a new Canton Township church knows what he hopes to get across to parishioners.

"Our aim is to provide for the spiritual needs of the unchurched people in the Canton community with the simple and basic teachings of Jesus," said Eric Moore, pastor of the new Canton Community Church.

According to Moore, his church gives people a Christian message with a different approach.

"We want to make Jesus' teachings relevant to contemporary life without stressing periphery issues of denominations and institutions. We teach what it means when Jesus said, 'follow me,'" Moore said.

Moore cites statistics from a survey done by the Calvary Baptist Church of Canton which supports his claim that a church ministering to the "unchurched" is necessary.

"Ninety-six percent of Americans believe in God; yet, only 15 percent go to church on a regular basis, and 49 percent do not belong to any local church. There is a need which I am trying to fill," he said.

Approximately 90,000 "unchurched" people live within a five-mile radius of the church, and approximately 47,000 are interested in belonging to a church that speaks about relevant issues such as family, marriage and overcoming life's obstacles, Moore said.

Currently, the church Sunday service is staged at Field Elementary School, on Haggerty Road between Cherry Hill and Palmer, at 10 a.m.

"The school is able to suit our current needs. Plus, we want to develop an identity as a people rather than a building," Moore said.

He explained the identity or focus of his church service is a "seeker's service" where contemporary Christian music, drama and spoken messages without intimidation are used to attract people who currently do not attend church.

The atmosphere of the service is friendly and is geared to spiritual seekers who want to investigate Christianity, he said.

Although the church congregation is small, 45 active members, Moore said members and visitors continue to respond positively to the church.

"We're wide open for growth. As the church grows, we will include ministries for youth and single people."

Moore grew up in Romulus where his parents still live, and graduated from Romulus Senior High School in 1977.

He received a bachelor of arts degree in pulpit communications from Tennessee Temple in 1981 and a master of divinity degree from Tennessee Temple Theological Seminary in 1986.

Currently, he lives near Field Elementary in Canton with his wife, Linda, and two children, Lincoln and Britany.

Moore said he manages two American Speedy Printing shops in Romulus and Canton on a part-time basis, and teaches speech at William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills.

"In six or seven years, we probably will build a church, but we are happy right now building a congregation that wants to explore the Christian message," Moore said.

Moore invites people to call the church office at 397-5863 if they have questions regarding the church service or Bible study sessions.

An ambulance will soon be housed at a Romulus fire station on a full-time basis.

Romulus city councilmembers last week approved improvements for the fire station expected to house the vehicle as part of a revised city contract with Community Emergency Medical Service Inc.

The downriver company provides ambulance services for Romulus, Allen Park, Southgate and Taylor. Under the original agreement, residents who call for ambulance service sometimes must wait for a vehicle to arrive from another community. Now, one vehicle will be devoted to Romulus service.

Although city officials have not found fault with ambulance arrival times, they said a localized facility would make service easier.

"I think it's important we have an ambulance located in the city," said Fire Chief William Greenslait.

The fire station located at 35257 Goddard Road will be used by C.E.M.S. after the city patches the roof, replaces a front window and turns on water in the restrooms and showers. The city will not be responsible for maintaining or repairing any other areas in the building.

Break-in is reported

A group home for mentally retarded girls was the target of a break-in last week, resulting in the loss of $2,000 in property.

Romulus police officials said the theft occurred in the 6000 block of Chamberlain Street between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. May 7.

The suspect entered the group home by kicking in a door.

Taken was a microwave oven, a color television, a VCR, stereo components and clothing.

When the robbery occurred, residents of the home were away on a field trip, police said. No one witnessed the crime.

However, investigators at the scene discovered tracks on the lawn indicating the suspect used a wheelbarrow to cart the stolen property away.

Anyone with information about this case is urged to call the Romulus Police Department at 941-8400.

Romulus Festival activities are 1 day away

Months of planning have dwindled down to one day - the annual Romulus Michigan Week Festival will begin at 6 p.m. tomorrow when the parade begins at city hall.

From that point, the weekend will be filled with activity, including rides, food, entertainment and games.

For easier planning, a schedule of festival events is listed below.

May 18

6 p.m.: The parade leaves city hall, winds through downtown and ends on Olive Street behind old South Junior High School.

Local alumnus is now sidekick to President Bush

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

He has traveled more than 700,000 miles, been in 35 countries, 49 states, met world leaders, and he has done all of this with the country's most well-known man — President George Bush.

Tim McBride, 31, a former Wayne resident and 1977 graduate of John Glenn High School, is the special assistant to the President of the United States.

McBride has traveled to some of the most interesting places in the world, and along the way met some of the most famous people. He has even seen history being made right before his eyes, but the one thing that has impressed McBride the most isn't the people or the places, but the president himself.

"Integrity is the one word that impresses me the most about the president. It is the one thing that I would like to keep in mind and try to emulate after I leave this job," McBride said.

McBride said he feels fortunate to work for such caring people. During the past four years, while traveling at the president's side, McBride said he has witnessed with what great regard the president and Barbara Bush hold the American people.

"They are both very caring people. Both the president and Mrs. Bush have the ability to put anyone at ease," McBride said.

McBride experienced this caring firsthand when his father Jim was sick and dying of cancer nearly two years ago. Throughout his father's illness the president and Mrs. Bush were concerned for McBride's mother Suzanne and his three brothers, and even called his mother during the illness and after his father passed away.

"Throughout the time my dad was sick the president and Mrs. Bush were very concerned. They expressed that concern to my mom through phone calls," McBride said.

For most people, just spending one day performing the duties of Tim McBride would be a dream come true.

"We're so busy every day that

Tim McBride and President George Bush

I probably won't fully realize it until I've gone on to do something else," he said.

Whether it's being able to walk into the Oval Office every day or watching the Super Bowl with the president and his family, McBride said it is his own family that keeps him humble.

His brothers tease him every time an article appears in the newspaper and only mentions that he has brothers.

They may tease him, but there is no doubt that they are proud of their brother and all that he has accomplished. Last week when McBride was awarded the Young Distinguished Alumni Award from Eastern Michigan University, his brother Pat flew in from Dallas just to be there. His older brother J.P. also was there. Only his brother Mike was unable to attend.

In 1985, after serving on the vice president's staff for eight months, McBride was offered the job as the vice president's personal aide on a three-month trial basis.

"He (Bush) said after three months we would sit down and decide how things were working out — if I liked him and he liked me. That was over four years ago, and we haven't talked yet," McBride said.

Obviously things have worked out. As special assistant, McBride is with the president from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m. When the president travels, McBride stays in an adjoining room, where he can be reached day and night if Bush needs anything. Although most people would hardly consider any day with the president as average, on an average day McBride arrives at his White House office, which is located right outside of the Oval Office, at 5:30 a.m. and from there he takes a five-mile jog. By 7 a.m., the president has arrived and McBride is back in his office waiting to start another busy day.

Anytime two people spend so much time with each other, McBride said, they are bound to become close. But the bond and admiration that has resulted from McBride's relationship with Bush seems to be more than just two people who spend time together.

"They think of Tim as a son," Suzanne (McBride's mom) said.

During one of Bush's visits in Michigan, Barbara joked with McBride's grandparents about wanting to adopt him, she said.

Unlike most mothers, McBride's mother said she never worries about her son, and the possible danger that comes with traveling so close to the president. When McBride traveled to Bogota, Colombia, with the president, a lot of threats had been made. Weeks before the trip, the media had numerous reports that there were threats made against the president and that Air Force One would be blown out of the sky.

"I've never been concerned for my own personal safety, because the Secret Service does such a terrific job checking everything out," McBride said.

"I never worry because he always assures me that every precaution is taken," Suzanne said.

"The president has a great sense of humor," he said.

Once when McBride was briefing the president, he was standing on the president's side of the desk and Bush was standing on the other side. The White House photographer came in and took a photograph.

A few weeks later Bush sent a copy of the picture showing McBride behind the president's desk to Suzanne with a note that said "Look how well Tim is doing."

"The president has come up with a new definition of a successful life. Any successful life must include serving others," McBride said.

High school has
2 new courses

Advanced-placement courses in calculus and English will be offered for the first time at Romulus Senior High School next school year.

The new classes were approved last week by members of the Romulus board of education.

Principal Thomas Dolan explained the classes will help students prepare for the annual advanced-placement exam for college.

The tests are offered in numerous areas including history, languages, science, math and English. Students who score well receive college credit, saving $500 to $1,000 in tuition costs.

High school is accredited

Romulus Senior High School Principal Thomas Dolan announced recently the North Central Association accreditation for the school has been extended through the 1989-90 school year.

"Once in every seven-year cycle each NCA school must undergo a comprehensive self-study followed by an NCA team visit," Dolan said. "This school was last evaluated in 1985. In the interim years, a school is accredited on the basis of its report on conditions in the school and on such supplementary information as the NCA requests. This continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school."

The NCA claims to be the largest regional accrediting agency in the country. It is a voluntary membership league of 6,000 high schools and 900 colleges and universities within a 19-state region.

School recognizes
academic fitness

Five elementary school students will be honored May 17 at the Cory Elementary School Presidential Academic Fitness Awards Banquet.

The Presidential Academic Fitness Awards Program was established by the United States Department of Education in 1983. It was designed to honor students for outstanding academic achievement.

For elementary schools, the awards are presented to sixth-graders. To qualify, a student must have an overall B-plus average for all academic subjects, including final report card grades in third, fourth and fifth and first semester grades in sixth.

Students must also score at the 80th percentile in the most recent standardized achievement test.

Cory students to be honored are Adrienne Anderson, James Atwell, Stefanie Clemons, Derek Hertenstein and Amy Ledger.

Cedar Point
trip is planned

A group of students from Cory Elementary School are planning a trip to Cedar Point amusement park June 1.

Students will leave Cory at 7 a.m. the day of the trip and return at 8 p.m.

Romulus student named to honor society

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Between softball, field hockey and piano practice, 16-year-old Robin Meriweather has managed to maintain a 3.8 grade-point average.

The Romulus resident was honored for her efforts earlier this month when she was selected as a member of the national Cum Laude Society on recommendation from her school chapter.

Meriweather said the society only selects 10 percent of the junior class at her school, Greenhills school in Ann Arbor.

When final selections were complete, seven juniors and five seniors received awards. A special ceremony in their honor was staged May 2.

The Cum Laude Society leaders recommend school officials base selection strictly on academics, Meriweather said. But sometimes the person as a whole is evaluated.

"You can be in the top 10 of your class and still not be accepted if you don't have the right attitude," Meriweather explained.

Meriweather does appear to have a good attitude. She discussed her accomplishments casually, wearing her Greenhills softball uniform.

Balancing sports activities and classes does make for a hectic schedule, she admitted. "I am a busy person."

After practice for one sport or another and a commute from Ann Arbor to Romulus, Meriweather usually arrives home late. Then she has to find time for her homework.

At this point in her high school career, Meriweather has been encouraged to start making decisions about college. A mandatory program at her school suggests students narrow their picks to five or six by the end of their junior year.

Schools like Amherst and Harvard are on Meriweather's list. She is thinking about a major in English or business.

"Eventually I want to go to law school and become a corporate lawyer," she said.

In the more immediate future for Meriweather is a six-week stay in France. She will leave this summer as part of an educational exchange program.

The first two weeks include an intensive training program. Participants will spend 45 hours studying French.

During the final four weeks Meriweather will live with a French family. This will be her opportunity to explore the country.

"It will just be fun to learn about the culture by staying with a family," she said.

When Meriweather is not focussing on school-related activities, she does make time for relaxation.

"I read a lot, watch TV, talk on the phone."

She said she also plays the piano to relax.

Meriweather is the daughter of Diane and Jesse Meriweather. Her father is principal at Romulus Junior High School.

Students honored
at academic banquet

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Educators at Cory Elementary School wanted to let some students know how proud they are of them.

So teachers and administrators at the school decided to sponsor a special banquet for these children, winners of the 1990 Presidential Academic Fitness Awards.

Cory award recipients are Adrienne Anderson, James Atwell, Stefanie Clemons, Derek Hertenstein and Amy Ledger.

The banquet is set for 6:30 p.m. this evening at Marriott-Metro Airport.

Cory Principal Peter Silveri explained the Presidential Academic Fitness Awards Program was established by the United States Department of Education in 1983. The award helps schools honor students for outstanding academic achievement, he said.

"The award is evidence that students have mastered their studies and demonstrated their ability to work hard over a sustained period to realize their full academic potential," Silveri said. "In this way the award seeks to foster the development of good character as well as academic success."

In elementary schools, the awards are presented to students in the sixth grade. To qualify, students must earn an overall B-plus average for all academic subjects, including final report card grades in third, fourth and fifth grades, and first-semester grades in sixth grades.

Students must also score at the 80th percentile in their most recent standardized achievement test, such as the California Achievement Test.

Silveri announced the names of the Cory winners earlier this month.

"Congratulations to these fine students for their hard work and dedication," he said.

Head Start marks its 25th year

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Happy 25th anniversary Head Start.

"I hope the program can celebrate many more anniversaries in years to come," said Beverly Brooks, director of all the Wayne-Westland preschool programs.

"The Head Start program is exactly what the name suggests," Brooks said.

"Head Start provides preschool-age children with comprehensive health, education, nutrition, parent involvement and social services early in their lives so they will have opportunities to lead successful lives tomorrow," Brooks said.

Brooks, who has been director of Wayne-Westland programs for six years and involved with early childhood development programs for 16 years, has witnessed the growth and evolution of the Head Start program.

The program is based on sound developmental philosophy and research, she said. Head Start has become more efficient and effective since its inception 25 years ago in 1965, but the primary goal to help low-income families has not changed.

"We provide many options for parents and children in the areas of emotional, physical and educational early childhood development," she said.

Ruth Bell, who has been director of the Wayne-Westland Head Start program for two years, said Head Start curricula vary from community to community.

The Wayne-Westland Head Start program offers a comprehensive approach to all areas of a child's development. For example, children learn cognitive/intellectual, creative, physical, language and emotional skills, she said.

The physical skills can be split into two categories: gross motor which works on large-muscle coordination and sign motor which works on a child's fine-muscle coordination, Bell said.

The emotional skills the 3- and 4-year-old children learn, include how to share, take turns, follow rules and make independent decisions.

Bell said the Wayne-

Games and activities are combined in Head Start to offer an educational experience for preschool children. Brian Smith (front) and Eric Pushee fly an airplane students in the Plymouth-Canton Head Start program made recently. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Westland Head Start program proudly serves 240 children at Wilson School in Westland.

She explained that in recent years parents have gotten more involved with the program.

"Parents learn parenting skills in service and workshops at the school. They also take part in making decisions on running the program by becoming members of the policy and center committees."

Parents have told Bell that the program has been very beneficial to them, because it's a way for parents to discuss problems with other parents.

"Parents don't feel isolated when they participate in the program," she said.

She added, parents have experienced many benefits from the program, such as increased self-confidence, better child management skills, economical shopping skills and making friends.

The staff works diligently to earn such high marks, said Bell.

Seven Michigan certified teachers with early-childhood endorsements are assisted by seven classroom paraprofessionals. Plus, the full-time staff is helped by a nutritionist, nurse and social worker who give assistance to parents and children two times each week. Wayne County provides their services at no charge to the parents.

Bell lists the following eligibility requirements for Head Start: children who will be three or four years old before Dec. 1, 1990; receive public assistance or have an annual income of no more than $12,700 for a family of four; foster children; and diagnosed handicapped children.

Low-income families, teenage parents and parents with children suffering from drug abuse also qualify. She said the Head Start program is permitted to accommodate 10 percent enrollment beyond income prerequisite.

Bell said she hopes the program will continue to improve and offer children and parents in need services and education which will bond families for another 25 years.

Head Start is federally funded.

Few register for elections

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

As of Tuesday candidates seeking placement on the ballot for the August primary for seats in the state House of Representatives and the Senate had to have all applications filed with the elections office.

On August 7, Michigan voters will decide who they want to be placed on the November ballot. Although the names aren't official as of yet, and they won't be until the certification process is completed June 5, it appears that most of the incumbents from districts in Wayne, Westland, Belleville, Romulus, Canton Township and Inkster will once again seek election.

Residents of the 12th District, which includes voters in Belleville, Romulus, Wayne and Westland, will determine the fate of a Senate seat. Sen. William Faust, a Democrat, will seek re-election. As of last week, no other candidate had filed, according to elections analyst Josephine Scott.

In the 10th District, where George Hart is currently serving as state senator. Hart announced plans to campaign for re-election this week. This district includes voters in Inkster. Hart is a Democrat.

Voters in the sixth district will also be asked to select a senator. R. Robert Geake, a Republican, has announced plans to once again seek the position. The sixth district includes voters in Canton Township.

In the state House of Representatives districts 36 and 37, which are occupied by Republican Gerald Law and Democrat James A. Kosteva, both have announced plans to once again run for office. Belleville, Canton Township, Romulus and Wayne voters are included in these districts. No one else had filed for the seats as of last week, Scott said.

In state House district 33, which includes Inkster and Westland voters, Rep. William R. Keith will seek re-election. The 33rd District includes voters in Westland and Inkster.

In state House district 38, Rep. Justine Barns, a Democrat, will once again seek the nomination. The 38th District includes voters in Westland.

At this point, no proposals have been certified for the November ballot. Proposals can be placed on the ballot by citizens who file petitions and by the state legislature.

Proposals concerning education funding in the state are expected to be placed on the ballot, according to officials.

Alzheimer's Disease: Help for the Caregiver

by Scott G. Lewis, M.D.

Last month's article discussed Alzheimer's Disease, its symptoms, diagnosis, and treatment. This article addresses the emotional, mental, and spiritual needs of the caregiver and offers some suggestions to make their job easier.

TAKE TIME FOR YOURSELF

To begin with, ask for assistance from family members and friends, and maintain at least one pleasurable activity which takes you away from the home.

SUPPORT SERVICES ARE AVAILABLE

Investigate all the resources available to you. Oakwood Hospital's Adult Day Health Center has a support group which meets on the third Thursday of each month from 1:30 to 3 p.m., at St. Martha's School, 18200 Oakwood Boulevard, across the street from the hospital.

Consulting with a lawyer regarding power of attorney and other legal matters concerning the patient also may be helpful.

TIPS FOR EVERY DAY

The Detroit Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association offers many support services and the following suggestions to ease everyday problems:

Make it as easy as possible for the patient to join the family at mealtime. Keep foods simple, and provide plenty of liquids with bendable straws. Try to serve the food when the patient is calm. If a nutritional problem arises, call your physician.

Communication is vital to the care of Alzheimer's patients. Try to avoid frustration when patients use incorrect words or begin to repeat themselves. Use simple language. Also, walking and music are great stress relievers.

Above all, remember the patient loves you, and that underneath this illness is a person you love.

There is help available for Alzheimer's caregivers. For further information, call Oakwood Hospital's Adult Day Health Center at (313) 593-8060, or the Detroit Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association at (313) 557-8277.

Finance proposal is offered

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

You can add two more proposals to the never-ending, ever-increasing number of school finance-reform proposals.

To the latest salad of school proposals, Governor James Blanchard has introduced a hybrid of the Olmstead/Kearney recommendations that is aimed to pump more funds into schools and bring about 'equity' in school financing.

Last week the governor unveiled his proposal that would incorporate some of the tenets of the Olmstead-Kearney proposal. Blanchard's proposal would tie the rate of property assessments to the rate of inflation, therefore, eliminating the wide fluctuations that are presently levied by assessors in municipalities and townships, who usually use home sales and home improvements as guidelines.

The governor's four-part proposal would provide for a constitutional amendment that would mandate all lottery money be legally devoted to K-12 education. Presently, the state is suspect of comingling the lottery monies in the general fund.

The governor would also incorporate the Olmstead/Kearney 50-50 school property tax provision into his proposal. That provision calls for the state to match dollar-for-dollar all revenue collected by local school districts. Since 1973, the first year of the lottery, the state funds 40 percent of K-12.

One provision that may meet with opposition from the schools, because many say it too subjective and unrealistic to police, is the governor's proposal that requires students who graduate from public schools have employable skills. The mandatory school attendance age would go from 16 to 18 years old, as well.

The governor, who unsuccessfully campaigned in November for Proposal A - a proposed constitutional amendment that would increase the sales tax from 4 cents to 4 1/2 cents and dedicate the additional revenues to schools - has the legislative support for his newest proposal. If both houses approve the proposal, the proposal would become law without a vote of the people.

However, the recently introduced Olmstead/Kearney proposal has several provisions, like a 'Educational Bill of Rights', which would amend the Michigan Constitution of 1963, to require approval from voters.

David Olmstead is the finance committee chairman for the Detroit Board of Education, who co-authored the proposal with C. Philip Kearney, a University of Michigan professor. They introduced their proposal in April during a press conference at the State Capitol Building.

The Olmstead-Kearney proposal joins at least two other well-publicized proposals that are being presented to the Michigan voters this year.

Health program cut

By DAWN E. ABFALTER
ANP Staff Writer

The Michigan House of Representatives voted to cut Healthy Start and the Sentinel Program which Gov. James J. Blanchard proposed during his 1990 State of the State message, much to the chagrin of area health professionals.

These health care programs for young children were eliminated by the Michigan House of Representatives from their proposed fiscal year budget 1991.

Blanchard introduced Healthy Start and the Sentinel Program to provide health care for young children. The Governor's Task Force on Access to Health Care, reported individuals without basic health insurance stood a 78-percent greater risk of being in poor or fair health, said C. Patrick Babcock, director of the state Department of Social Services.

Healthy Start and the Sentinel Program were established to provide health care for children younger than 10 in the working poor family. Healthy Start is for children 10 and younger whose families are 20 percent below the poverty level. It is designed to promote prevention and wellness of all children, according to Babcock.

The Sentinel Program allows monthly visits from a public health nurse for infants with: low birth weight, whose parents are teenagers, whose parents may have abused drugs or alcohol during pregnancy and those whose mothers may not have received appropriate prenatal care, according to Babcock.

"The bottom line is, young children would have a doctor and be assured of medical services. Parents would not be placed in the position of frantically searching for last-minute health care for a sick child," Babcock said.

"The absence of preventative health care also leads individuals to use expensive emergency rooms as otherwise preventable illnesses progress into more serious health conditions. This frequently results in hospital bills which do not get paid. Uncompensated hospital care is estimated at $450 million dollars a year in Michigan," said Babcock.

Representatives of the health department have launched a letter-writing campaign to Lansing in an attempt to have the programs reinstated before the budget is approved.

Hudson's workers to join union

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Employees at Dayton Hudson's at Westland Center voted Friday to become part of the United Auto Workers union. The vote has yet to be certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

The employees had the choice of voting for the UAW, United Food and Commercial Workers or no union at all, according to Sue Sorensen, director of public relations for the Dayton Hudson Company.

The real toss-up, according to sources, was between the UAW and no union at all. Only eight employees voted for representation from the UFCW. The favorable vote for the UAW was

We will meet all our legal obligations in making the process work and in discussing the appropriate matters with the employees elected representatives at the bargaining table.

— Sue Sorensen
Director of public relations cast by 274 employees, while 179 employees voted to not unionize, Sorensen said.

Reading an official statement prepared by company officials, Sorensen said, "We naturally wish this vote would have been otherwise, but we respect the process and will wait until the vote is certified before making any further statement."

Company officials also said they intend to meet the legal obligation if the vote is determined to be accurate.

"We will meet all of our legal obligations in making the process work and in discussing the appropriate matters with the employees elected representatives at the bargaining table," Sorensen said.

The whole issue has been very sensitive to company officials and to employees, Sorensen said.

"We are very proud of our Westland employees for the professional manner in which they handled themselves," Sorensen said.

Company officials are anxious to work with the employees to serve the customers and the community, Sorensen said.

The vote is expected to be certified Monday, according to Sorensen.

The humane society regains its footing

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

In the past year the Michigan Humane Society has been forced to deal with hardship in the form of financial losses.

Two separate issues have forced the Humane Society to place future projects on the back burner.

"At this point, we don't have a start-up rate," said humane society controller, Chuck Korotko. Finances are beginning to pick up again, he said.

"We're concentrating most of our efforts on providing better services and service programs," Korotko said.

Construction on a new building located behind the Westland shelter was halted when the Humane Society ran into financial troubles.

"Construction started in the fall of 1988. During 1989, we ran into acute cash-flow problems," Korotko said.

Last summer, a Humane Society employee was charged with embezzlement, for the misappropriation of approximately $60,000. This, Korotko said, did not directly affect construction of the new Westland shelter.

"The stoppage with the construction project, and the embezzlement issue are two distinct issues," Korotko said.

The employee worked at the shelter in Auburn Hills. Korotko said the investigation began after Humane Society officials became suspicious that an employee may have been taking Humane Society funds for their own use.

"We turned the situation over to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Now that individual is waiting to stand trial," Korotko said.

Meanwhile, the Humane Society is on its way to recovering from the financial downfall.

"We've come a long, long way to getting back on track," Korotko said.

As for now, the Humane Society, according to Korotko, is concentrating on improving one day at a time.

The new shelter in Westland will include better animal facilities as well as classrooms and a lecture hall.

The Michigan Humane Society works to improve the lot of lost and abandoned animals.

Michigan 100

PPOM, a preferred provider organization based in Southfield, grew more than 50-fold during the past five years, making it the fastest-growing, privately-owned company in the state. PPOM's 97.18-percent annual growth rate since 1985 earned this 8-year-old firm top spot in the Michigan Private 100 survey.

PPOM grew from net revenue of $110,266 and six employees in 1985 to become one of the largest preferred provider organizations in the country with 1989 revenue of $5,575,318 and 59 employees, adding $655.9 million to the state economy and 5,312 new jobs.

Companies ranking second through fifth fastest-growing in Michigan were: Complete Business Solutions, a Farmington Hills-based computer services company; Advantage Packaging, a Detroit manufacturer; Gainey Transportation Services, a Grand Rapids-based trucking company; and Meridian Instruments, an Okemos manufacturer of instrumentation for medical research and clinical laboratories.

Half of the 100 companies in the ranking are involved in either construction or manufacturing, followed by computer, health care, and retail-wholesale businesses.

To qualify for the Michigan Private 100, companies had to achieve net sales between $100,000 and $30 million. Almost 250 Michigan companies submitted information for tabulation and ranking.

Businessman plans new store

Allan Goode, proprietor of the Two Willows furniture stores in Belleville and Livonia, anticipates the opening of his third store in Ann Arbor this summer. Goode attributes the 1989 23-percent sales increase to pro-American merchandising.

Willows furniture is crafted in America from solid oak and pine, Goode says, "We're selling tomorrow's antiques."

Standard is leading lender

In November, Standard Federal Bank occupied the leading position among all residential mortgage lenders in the four-county area of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw, recording 1,019 residential mortgage loans of $250,000 or less for a total of $63,793,872.

Headquartered in Troy, Standard Federal has current assets of over $9.6 billion.

Cable company endorses standards

Continental Cablevision of Westland and Kay'elen Perry, area manager, recently announced endorsement of the industrywide customer-service standards adopted by the National Cable Television Association.

"Providing quality customer service has been a hallmark of Continental," Perry said.

Customers may call for information on service until 10 p.m. nightly. Routine service calls are handled on a seven-day schedule until 9 p.m. with emergency service 24-hours a day.

Standards adopted by NCTA include telephone service where qualified representatives can respond to customer's inquiries, a response to service interruptions within 24 hours, written information provided by the cable company in the areas of products and services offered, prices and service options, installation and service policies, and how to use the cable service.

Cable comes to classroom

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Cable television in the classroom was the topic of discussion May 8 when educators met with representatives from Omnicom Cablevision.

During the "Cable in Education" presentation, teachers, administrators and community officials explored some of the non-commercial educational programming available through some cable networks.

This programming is available without charge and without copyright restrictions for registered schools, according to Maria Holmes, Omnicom program director.

During the presentation CNN News Network representative Rob Wheeler of Atlanta promoted a 15-minute news-oriented program, CNN Newsroom. The program focuses on world events that tie in with subjects in the textbook.

Participants also heard from Amy Delahunty, who discussed the A & E Classroom. The A & E program features movies and documentaries to enhance the student of humanities and social science, Delahunty said.

C-Span representative Charlotte Bowers presented information about government programming. Students studying political science can see legislators in action as they make critical decisions with this program, she said.

Video presentations and information were also discussed for Discovery, C-Span and the Weather Channel.

Holmes said the cable industry is increasing involvement with the educational community. CNN, for instance, has a staff of educators who write material for the program using resources of the news network.

"History changes faster than the books can be written, and these cable programs enable students to witness history in the making," Holmes said.

"A & E Network has stated that cable networks are emerging as a leader in the movement toward literacy and enhanced education in America," she added.

Richard Egli, public relations director for Plymouth

Canton schools, said, "the opportunities available are unlimited and there is an interest in using cable for an educational resource in school systems."

In addition to the network presentations, Omnicom presented information on Public Access Educational programming and the Educator's Guide to Cable. The guide is a listing from all cable networks presently offering educational programming. It is available to schools every month at no charge.

Stop the growth

Another appliance store? Another discount store? Another theater less than a mile from two others? All of these concrete structures on beautiful Central City Parkway? We don't believe it. We voted for Robert Thomas because he promised to curtail commercial development. With the help of our city officials, will all of our trees and meadows be replaced with more roads and shopping areas? Is Westland going to assist in smothering the earth? Take a look around you at our numerous, small commercial areas with their ugly, unkempt parking lots and our dilapidated street corners on our main thoroughfares. Are these things of beauty? No. Westland is not the bestland until we beautify the old and stop grasping too quickly for the new. Please save some breathing space for Westland.

Reports are wrong

What are all these complaints from the anti-choice fanatics about the numbers that showed up in Washington D.C. for their comparatively small rally? They claim that the park service estimate of the crowd at that event was too low. The park service was very kind to them. And it should come to no surprise to anyone if they remember that the Republican president who is anti-choice is the park service's boss. CNN and legitimate wire services estimated the anti's at 100 to 190 thousand.

The pro-choice march in April 1989 attracted, according to the park service, 300,000 but by all other independent observers, 600,000. The pro-choice march had to be expanded due to the huge turnout and the Michigan delegation did not step off the staging area until four hours after the head of the march due to the crush of people. The anti's rally, by the way, was first touted as a march, but due to lack of firm prior commitments from the narrow-based supporters, the event was rescheduled as a rally.

But don't take our word for it. Look at any poll done by a legitimate outside source, 70 percent of people either believe in safe, accessible abortion for any reason a woman may choose or for reasons of rape, incest or severe risk to a woman's life or health.

Schools cannot do it alone

I share the same concerns for our nation (and community) outlined by Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence (CAFE) spokesperson Doug McClennen. Yes, we do have big problems that need our attention and deserve our effort to resolve.

Unfortunately, the solution is not as simple as many would like to believe. Public schools cannot solve, and should not attempt to solve, social and spiritual ills. Again, I must agree that parents and churches have not been getting the job done in many cases. But that does not mean the schools should take on the responsibility of raising our children. Conscientious parents will not allow it for a minute.

To succeed in life we need much more than an educational system. We need parents that are involved with their children and that provide spiritual guidance with moral instruction. We need churches that help us to apply eternal truths and wisdom to circumstances today. Finally, we need schools that teach language, math, science and history.

When more parents begin parenting, and when more educators begin educating, we will witness an improvement in both education and society.

Robert E. Anderson Jr.

'Phantom money' puzzles reader

I was glad to see the letter Dr. O'Neill wrote in response to Mr. Moranty's letter of March 22. I was puzzled by what Mr. Moranty termed as "Phantom money" which the Wayne-Westland school district should be using.

The proposals in Mr. Moranty's letter have not even been passed in the legislature as mentioned by Dr. O'Neill. The education of the students now is the first responsibility of the community. The school district is asking for their proposals to be approved for two years. Hopefully the state will be able to help more at that time.

By the program and personnel cuts, the district will be in a "crisis educationally". Is this what the Wayne-Westland residents want for their children? I commend Dr. O'Neill for taking a stand and answering the letter of Mr. Moranty, who is on the so-called Citizens for Education Committee.

Also, in regard to the people running for the school board, Laurel Raisanen has stated the finances are not an issue. Without proper finances, the district does not have a chance in educating students properly. She said the issue is "giving our kids the proper education." Well, in order to be number one as she states, the district must have the finances to do it.

If Linda Pratt is elected, she would like to see programs which would "challenge gifted children." Why don't we just try to challenge the average student by giving them a proper education, but in order to do this, the district needs the finances.

I agree the state needs to take more responsibility in financing education for all our children, but in the meantime we must think about the present student population.

Think about the consequences when voting in June.

Marsh Sienko
Wayne resident

Please pardon our begging, it's important

The Michigan Humane Society and the many dedicated volunteers who fight for the protection of innocent animals is fighting its way back from a financial crisis which has stymied all their hopes for new projects.

In the past year, the humane society has plunged further and further in debt with cash donations dwindling. Construction on an improved facility in Westland had to be halted when donations slowed to a trickle and there was no way to pay the crews.

Now, that nearly built structure stands as a symbol of the failure of society to provide for the innocent creatures of the earth.

A thoughtless employee who allegedly embezzled money from the organization has also caused hardships.

The abandoned animals brought to the Westland shelter will spend another summer, it appears, in an improperly ventilated building which serves to promote the spread of summertime diseases that infect animals.

Not one of us can walk along the rows of cages at the humane society shelter, and not be moved by the saddened eyes that peer up pleadingly.

Only a cold-hearted individual can read the descriptions of the animals on each cage, and not be moved by the painful sagas. Family pets that have lost their owners because of a move, because the owner had to go to a nursing home, or simply because the owner didn't want them anymore.

How tragic it is to be unwanted and unloved.

And worst of all, many of these animals have sadder tales to tell. They have been abused and neglected, improperly fed and beaten.

These abused animals are saved only through the efforts of the humane society investigative team which checks into reported animal-abuse cases.

This group tirelessly reports crimes against animals, and takes the pets away from owners who have failed to treat them fairly and compassionately.

Not a single pet owner can imagine beating or starving the companion that has been by their side for such a long time. But, it happens and someone must be there to fight for those who cannot speak for themselves.

The Michigan Society plays that role. They are the voice for the animals.

Failing to understand their importance and failure to feel compassion for their cause shows only a lack of knowledge. For no one can feel unconcerned once they know the facts.

Officials of the humane society, however, are ready to put all of that behind them and move toward a better future. They look with anticipation toward all the special fund-raising events scheduled for the summer months and hope for support from the community.

The Michigan Humane Society needs help. They need money to continue the work that they do. They need cash donations to save the animals.

The money can be earmarked specifically for the Westland shelter construction, and therefore be a catalyst to put construction efforts back into motion. Every little bit will help.

Associated Newspapers Inc. has been a longtime supporter of animal and of the Michigan Humane Society. One of our periodic efforts is an Adopt-A-Pet page. Our advertisers support the page, and help to promote the programs of the humane society.

Those advertisers who purchase a spot on the page deserve credit for their contribution toward promoting the needs of the humane society.

We, too, will continue to do our part for the sake of the animals.

We ask only that you offer your help.

Letter makes unfair claims

I hate to dignify Jack Farrow's recent attacks against CBE and myself with a response. However for the general public's benefit, I felt compelled to comment on his peculiar views.

Although Farrow has never met or spoken with me, he feels he knows my thoughts before I speak. According to him, I and CBE have been exploiting the Nalepa family's recent personal tragedy for political gain. I would like to know where he gets his information--public school officials (this question is not rhetorical, I would truly like to know)?

I have never even brought up the subject for discussion in the media. Moreover, Mrs. Nalepa has gone on record herself to say that CBE has been helpful. CBE has merely done what Christians are supposed to do. That is, to lend help in times of need.

I will agree with Mr. Farrow on one point. It is better for the community that he has dropped out of the school board election race. We need board members that reserve judgment and take action only after having obtained the important facts. We do not need board members that ride band-wagons and spew reckless accusations based on hearsay and prejudice.

Robert E. Anderson, Jr.

District officials act like dogs

The Wayne-Westland Community Administration and the School Board are just like a fine rabbit dog.

Years ago an avid rabbit hunter explained that a fine rabbit dog would bring a rabbit around to you. If you missed the shot, that dog would bring it around again and again until the rabbit quit running. He went on to say, that if you kept missing, the only thing you could do would be to shoot the dog.

Proposals A and B and the February 8, 1990 three millage proposals were overwhelmingly defeated in Wayne and Westland. Yet here we are two months later facing yet another opportunity to say "NO" to increased taxes. Those defeated proposals called for increased taxes almost equal to the current proposals. The people said "NO NEW TAXES-NEW PRIORITIES", but instead there were threatened cuts in student programs and student services.

In business, if the company has financial problems which are not solved and continued to occur, they fire the CEO.

In sports, if the team loses and continues to lose, they fire the coach.

In schools, if the finances continue to be mismanaged year after year, they call another millage election, threaten to cut student programs, and lay off teachers and custodians.

Maybe it's time the citizens of this community tell their elected school board to fire the CEO and the losing coach. Think about it when you vote on June 11, 1990.

Melvin C. Straight,
Chairman
Publicity Committee

Changes are questioned

Allegedly for the improvement of educating youngsters, a whole "new" change is occurring with Michigan's educational system. Many schools are completely restructuring their teaching modes. Courses are being rewritten, traditional programs dropped, "new" programs implemented, "new" language being created, "new" marking systems, being devised, and grade level requirements being changed.

A whole "new" concept has arisen within the educational system that is being supported by many of Michigan's state departments and well-known organizations throughout local areas.

"NEW AGE" methodology and techniques are presenting themselves in the classroom. Where God and prayer were once taken out of the public school system, a "NEW AGE" religion has replaced the traditional teachings. Humanism is being expounded on. The classroom is no place for this religious teaching. Religious beliefs should not be imposed on children in public schools.

Of course the grant monies for the "comprehensive health program" being offered are unlimited because taxes are unlimited.

The whole "New" focus on education in schools is no longer academics; it is now "health" with every child being considered at-risk. I have to agree that children are at-risk, especially in those schools which have implemented the MICHIGAN MODEL or WELLNESS CURRICULUM.

One can teach a child virtually anything through brainwashing.

Mission accomplished

Belleville wins Ann Arbor Huron baseball tournament title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After a horrendous start, Coach John Bertz and the Tigers of Belleville have come back.

"We decided to re-evaluate our goals and decided the path back to baseball respectability was to win the Ann Arbor Huron invitational crown," Bertz offered.

On Saturday, in a rain-abbreviated tournament, Bertz and the Tigers accomplished their mission.

Behind senior right-hander

Mike Coleman's five-hit pitching, Belleville knocked off Dexter 8-5 in the championship round to claim its second Ann Arbor Huron title in three years. Belleville had also won the title in 1988.

"We're elated," Bertz said. "Our kids were down after our poor start, so we decided to take a second look at what was happening. We set a goal on winning this (AA Huron) invitational, and this has brought us back."

Coleman, the hottest hurler in the Belleville rotation, notched 11 strikeouts and walked five in boosting his record to 2-1 on the season.

Losing pitcher Marty Walsh also went the distance, fanned seven but walked six. Walsh had problems with Belleville senior Jeremy Ison, an All-Area performer a year ago when the Tigers captured their first Wolverine 'A' Conference title.

Ison led the assault on Walsh and Dexter with a two-run double in the fourth, and he finished the afternoon with three RBIs. Teammate Mike Gentz also doubled, singled and had an RBI.

Some 16 teams competed in the Ann Arbor tournament which was marred by inclement weather.

Belleville broke open a 2-all ball game with a three-run, top-of-the-fifth-inning rally to turn back Dearborn Fordson 5-3 and hand Coleman the victory.

Fordson took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first, but the Tigers tied the score in the second then, after a couple of scoreless innings, the Tigers went to work on losing pitcher Luther Ogea.

In the fifth, Tony O'Harris laced a leadoff single, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. Ison drew a base on balls, stole second, bringing Vince Sacco to the plate. Sacco lifted a sacrifice fly ball, scoring the tie-breaker. Gentz then walked and was replaced on the base paths with pinch-runner Brian Boike.

New Boston Huron's first baseman Eric Gurntow lays his glove on a theft-minded Romulus ball player during last week's nonconference game. But it wasn't in time to pick off the Eagle. The Chiefs gave Coach Don Foley and his Eagles a scare before losing a close 2-1 decision. The victory was the first of three for Romulus, which enjoyed a perfect week, while New Boston rallied back and won two key conference games later in the week. The story is on Page 3-B. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Romulus enjoys 'perfect week'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus capped a 'perfect week' of baseball by edging Ann Arbor Huron, 7-6, in a South Central Conference game on Friday.

It was the third one-run victory of the week for Coach Don Foley and the Eagles, who now face a grueling seven games in eight days going into the stretch of the 1990 campaign. The three victories also lifted Eagles to a 7-7-1 won-lost-tied record.

"We had three close games last week and came out winners," said Foley, who is in his first year as coach. "I am obviously pleased that we won all three. However, we're not going to be able to sit on our laurels. Just take a look at what's coming up."

Romulus had a twin bill scheduled Tuesday with SCC rival, Ann Arbor Pioneer, then hosted Westland John Glenn on Wednesday for its pre-district test. Today the Eagles await Milan, a non-conference opponent, and they will travel to Belleville on Saturday for a doubleheader that will begin at noon.

Romulus launched last week with a 2-1 victory over neighboring New Boston Huron. Southpaw Ed King, who whiffed eight, walked two and gave up four hits, was the winner, while Jason Marteney, removed for reliever Matt Hamilton in the sixth, was the loser.

New Boston drew blood first as the Chiefs scored in the top of the second when King walked Erik Eastridge. Eastridge moved to second on Jeff Delano's sacrifice, and a throwing error permitted the runner to come around.

Singles by Ed Tank and Mark Harden accounted for the Eagles' fourth inning run, which tied the score. Then, in the sixth, Ken Blevins singled off of Marteney, moved to second on Tank's groundout and scored when Harden drilled his second single of the game. Harden finished with a pair of RBIs and two stolen bases.

Romulus erupted for three runs in the opening inning, then held off the Tractors of Fordson to win a nailbiting 5-4 nonleague decision as Tank was awarded the victory. He needed some help from relievers Tim Dufore and Steve Honeycutt.

Keith Loos was tagged for the loss. He gave up seven hits, including a single and triple to King and a pair of hits to Blevins, who also walked and drove in one run. Honeycutt, who got the save, also accounted for two RBIs and a single, while Tom Patterson chipped in a double. Dufore hammered a two-out triple in the sixth but was left stranded on base.

In a game that both teams had to fight the elements as well, Romulus managed to escape the rallying River Rats of Huron, 7-6. Huron exploded for four runs in the seventh to rout winning pitcher Rich Evans, who had worked 6 2/3 innings, from the mound.

Evans pitched a one-hitter after he gave up a second inning double down the left field line to Mike Herrington.

Blevins led the assault on the River Rats as he had a double, scored twice and drove in a run. Honeycutt and Tom Patterson each contributed RBI singles, while Evans had a single and scored twice to help his cause.

second victory of the season. He also accounted for four hits, including a three-run homer with mates Bernard Reeves and Adams aboard.

In the nightcap, Adams fanned 11, however, he allowed 10 to get aboard via walks.

Craig Lewis and Maurice Bell paced the Vikings' 19-hit assault. Lewis had a two-run homer and single, while Bell's contribution to the victory included four hits - all singles.

Whether Inkster reaches the pre-district phase of the state playoffs will be determined on how they play against the Jaguars of Allen Park. The two Class B rivals squared off 4 p.m. Tuesday in the qualifying round of the tournament.

On Thursday, the Vikings will resume Suburban Athletic Conference competition with none other than natural rival, Robichaud. They'll play a doubleheader at the Dearborn Heights high school field.

Orr and the Vikings will wrap up the week Friday at Willow Run.

Regionals next for area runners

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Local and area high school track & field teams will pack up their gear and head for regional sites on Friday in hopes of earning regional honors and qualifying for the state finals.

Belleville and Romulus are slated to see action at the Class A regional hosted by Ypsilanti High School.

"It's one of the tougher regionals in the area," pointed out Sam Vicchy, Belleville High assistant coach. "But we're looking forward to the challenge."

The Tigers will get no rest. On Tuesday, they will travel to Trenton where the 1990 Wolverine 'A' Conference championships will be staged. Monroe, undefeated in dual meet competition this season, is favored to win the title. However, Wayne Memorial could upset the Trojans' plans.

In the meantime, Belleville men's and women's teams participated in the Jackson Relays on Saturday and returned with their share of medals.

Ann Arbor Pioneer, with a total of 82 team points, won the relays in the men's division, while host Jackson was the winner in the women's section.

Belleville's discus and shot put relay teams each won medals. The Tigers' discus lineup included Brian Gulliver, Jeff Komaromi and Kevin Clark, whose 330-foot, 9-inch total earned them a third place in the discus competition; Gulliver, Komaromi and Paige Orr placed fourth in the shot put with a total of 124 feet, 13/4 inches.

Belleville also reached the finals in the shuttle relay, where it was sixth with Lee Bradford, James Craig, Marty O'Sullivan, and Jeff Komaromi. They were clocked in 1:10.3.

The Tigers were fifth with Lee Bradford, Andre Edwards, James Craig, Rob Priebe and Marty O'Sullivan in a unique five-man relay in 3:39.5. The 800-meter relay, made up of Craig, Bradford, Priebe and Edwards, was fourth in 1:35.5.

The athletes also had to fight the elements - there was a constant downpour of rain, and a bitter cold wind to overcome.

Belleville's women's team finished seventh in a field of 12 teams. The Tigers piled up 42 points.

With Carmelita Martell, Carla Blackwell, Jennifer Woodington and Ann Gray in the lineup, the Tigers picked up a third-place medal in the 3,200-meter relay (10:54.5). The same foursome finished fourth in the 6,400-meter relay (25:43).

Tigers continue to chase Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Armed with a 7-2 conference record, Belleville will pick up the trail and hopes to catch league-leading Monroe this week. Monroe is zeroing in on the 1990 Wolverine 'A' Conference women's softball title.

"This is a big week for us," said Belleville Coach Peggy Curtis, who has fielded two Class A state championship teams over the past decade. "If we are to catch Monroe and force a showdown, then we can't lose."

The Tigers have a 4 p.m. Friday conference date with Southgate Anderson. They met Trenton yesterday. A loss to either team would put the Tigers in jeopardy.

Over the Mother's Day weekend, Belleville participated in and lost to host, Temperance Bedford, at the Bedford Invitational, 3-1. Dawn Rochowiak was charged with the defeat. She twirled a four-hitter, fanned one, walked two and also hit two batters. Rosemary Harpel was the winner. She held Belleville to two hits and, the Bedford pitcher missed the shutout when she walked Heather Dickerson in the fifth and then, after a couple of errors,

Peggy Curtis

Kristin Curtis, managed to put down a bunt that opened the door to the Tigers' only run.

Earlier in the week, Belleville swept a doubleheader from out-of-league rival, South Lyon. Rochowiak fired a two-hitter and won the opener 2-0.

A scoreless game until the seventh, Belleville broke the deadlock when Tanya Kjellin singled moved to second and third on a wild pitch. Kelly Rochon also singled, bringing Jenny Adkins to the plate. Adkins connected to drive in the first run and Rochon eventually came home on a wild pitch.

JoAnne Clark's four-hit pitching effort lifted the Tigers to a 10-2 victory in the nightcap. She received ample support from Linda Pasek, who had three hits, including RBIs. Teammates Rochon and Mar-

Inkster sweeps Highland Park

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Hammering 33 hits in two games, Inkster bats battered a listless Highland Park last week as the Vikings swept both ends of a Suburban Athletic Conference doubleheader.

With Wesley Lawrence tossing a two-hitter and striking out 15, the Vikings routed the Parkers 14-3 in the first game. They scored seven runs in each of the second and third innings to seal the victory.

In the nightcap, Inkster hurler Charlie Adams held the losers to one hit in a 17-6 victory.

"I am very pleased with these two victories because first, we have begun to hit the ball and, secondly, our lineup consists mostly of underclassmen. We have a team that we can build with," Orr added.

In the opening game, Lawrence was not only tough on the mound, but he also was a formidable opponent at the plate. The Viking hurler struck out 15 and walked two in chalking up his from kid brother, Chuck, a freshman, who delivered a two-run single, lifting the Tigers to a 5-2 advantage. Fordson threatened in the bottom of the sixth when the Tractors put their final run on the scoreboard.

Mike Komaromi's solo homer in the second inning put the tie-breaker on the scoreboard. Ison, who had two walks, chipped in with a triple, and Mike Coleman had a single and triple.

Belleville has a busy and 'big week' ahead. The Tigers will be out to improve upon a 4-5 won-lost conference record as they play three key conference games.

If the weather cooperated, Belleville was scheduled to meet Trenton on Monday; host league-leading Monroe on Tuesday before playing a doubleheader at home against non-conference opponent, Livonia Franklin, on Wednesday.

Belleville also was fifth in the discus relay, thanks to Angie Wolff, Ellie Buhro and Sarah Mortenson, who had a total of 183 feet, 3 inches.

Rachel Alexander, Taira Jarad, Lawanda Smith, Ann Gray and Christine Wilson also finished sixth in the 'booner' relay. The Tigers had the third-best freshman sprint relay team as Taira Jarad, Alexander, Gray and Kesha Taylor covered the distance in 3:30.2. The middle-distance relay team of Jarad, Wilson, Martell and Woodington finished sixth in 8:24.7.

After drawing a first-round bye in the state playoffs, Belleville begins its bid for a Class A district berth on May 25 when the Tigers will travel to Ann Arbor Huron.

"We graduated most of last year's club," Curtis commented, "but it looks like we're beginning to put it back together. We have a lot to learn."

Belleville will draw the winner of the Westland John Glenn - Pinckney game for their pre-district playoffs. The pre-district is scheduled for Friday, May 25 on the diamond of the qualifying round's winner.

Typhoons place 2nd at Florida tournament

The trip South for the Van Buren Township Typhoons proved to be an exciting one.

The local soccer team managed to come away with a second-place trophy in their division, playing against some of the finest young teams in the country at the Clearwater International Soccer Tournament.

Van Buren defeated Dunedin, 2-1, and overpowered New Port Richey, 4-1, before losing a heartbreaker, 2-0, to the Clearwater Chargers.

The Chargers are the defending American Amateur Union national champs.

"Overall, we felt it was both fun and a learning experience for the players to participate in such a high-caliber tournament," said Manager Dale Travis. "They played against some of the best soccer players in the country, and we're proud of the way these kids performed on and off the field."

Travis pointed out that the Typhoons will be conducting open tryouts for all players born in the year 1979. The tryouts will be staged from 6 p.m.

until 8 p.m. June 7, 8 and 11 at North Junior High School in Belleville.

The field is located near the westbound Interstate-94 expressway service drive on Beck Road, one mile west of Belleville Road.

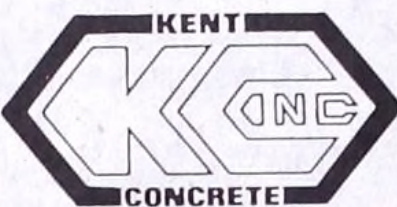

Those who wish further information or have any questions about the tryouts should contact Travis at 941-5479.

Huron comes alive on diamond

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

New Boston Huron has come alive in baseball.

Considered the doormat in the league that bears their name, the Chiefs have shown league rivals Monroe Jefferson and Grosse Ile that they will no longer be taken for granted.

"These kids have shown that they aren't going to give up," said sophomore Huron Coach Bill Spiecker. "They feel that they can win every game they are in."

And if you don't believe it, ask Monroe Jefferson, Grosse Ile and Monroe Catholic Central. Huron won three of its four league games last week.

The Chiefs knocked off Jefferson 9-5 a few days after they had jolted the Islanders 8-7 in an extra-inning affair.

Matt Spiecker, the Huron coach's son, evened his pitching mark to .500 (3-3) as he subdued Jefferson, 9-5. The right-handed senior scattered seven hits, struck out nine and walked four in his third triumph of the year.

Jefferson took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, however, Huron countered with a pair of runs in the bottom of the second, increased their margin to 3-1 in the next inning before Jefferson came back to tie and go ahead 4-3 in the fifth.

A six-run Huron sixth inning turned the tide for good as Jeff Delano led the nine-hit Huron assault with two singles. Erik Eastridge and Ron Nowitzke also chipped in two hits each.

Loser Tom Reed worked six innings before he was removed.

New Boston came back after the Islanders of Grosse Ile scored once in the top of the eighth to tilt the scoreboard with two runs that gave the Chiefs and reliever Matt Hamilton an 8-7 victory.

Hamilton stepped in to take over from Nowitzke, who worked the first five innings.

Nowitzke started the eighth off with a leadoff single. He was sacrificed to second, then, after Spiecker walked and Hamilton whiffed, William Worley came through with a two-run triple into right-center.

Worley had an outstanding day at the plate as he counted four RBIs for his triple and single. Hamilton had a double and single and an RBI, while Good checked in with a pair of base hits.

New Boston split a twin bill with league adversary Monroe Catholic Central last week. The Chiefs came back from a 14-0 first-game setback to win the nightcap, 5-3.

Matt Thom stopped the Chiefs with a one-hitter in the first game as he struck out eight, walked three. Jason Marteney shattered Thom's dream of a no-hitter early as he drilled a single to leftfield in the second inning.

The Chiefs came back in the second game with Spiecker who tossed a seven-hitter and struck out three.

Losing pitcher Steve Orr saw the victory slip from his mitt when the Chiefs rallied for three runs in the bottom of the sixth to erase a 3-2 deficit. In that inning, Orr hit Delano who, after one out, was chased home when Eastridge hammered a triple to right-center, then Nowitzke gave the Chiefs the lead for good with a run-scoring single. Gumtow also singled, putting runners on first and second. Good's single drove in an insurance run.

Huron went into the week with a 5-6 league and a 6-8 overall record.

Vikings even up softball score

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In a week of ups-and-downs, the Vikings of Inkster can boast that they have evened up their softball record.

Coach John Carlson and his Vikings were surprised by Robichaud in the first game of a twin bill as the Bulldogs rallied for three runs in the eighth and held off their archrivals to win a close 12-11 decision.

Inkster averted the sweep with a 15-7 victory in the second game.

Inkster pitcher Jean Braswell, who was charged with the 12-11 loss, saw her teammates commit 12 errors. Winner Chris Reichtzgel survived a 19-hit barrage, led by Alexis Watson, who had three hits, including a pair of doubles, and her cause with a bases-loaded triple in the third inning, while Lamar's double in the fifth drove in the 10th run which ended the game. Watson accounted for a pair of doubles in three appearances at the plate.

Rouge, however, came back to beat the Vikings 22-16 in the second game. Inkster exploded for 10 runs in the first inning but couldn't hang on. Green and Lamar had two and three hits, respectively.

Inkster headed into the week with a 7-7 overall record. They were scheduled to play Ecorse at home Monday, and were to host Oak Park for a twin bill on Wednesday. On Friday, they have Willow Run to contend with.

Tawana Green, who had four hits in five trips, including three RBIs.

Braswell came back in the second game to win a shortened-by-darkness 15-7 decision. She gave up six hits, while her teammates blasted 16. Watson, who doubled and had four RBIs for her three for four; Green, with three hits, and Koryn Stallworth, with three for four, led the assault.

A newcomer to the Viking lineup, Shonette Lamar, an All-area cager, collected two hits.

Newcomer to the Viking lineup, Shonette Lamar, an All-area cager, collected two hits.

Inkster also played an abbreviated game with River Rouge, the Suburban Athletic Conference leader. The Vikings buried the Panthers 19-9 in a game called by the 10-run 'mercy rule'. Braswell was the winning pitcher. She helped There's an easier way to get rid of weeds.

Spend 10 minutes preventing weeds instead of hours on your knees pulling them.

Use Preen and you'll be stopping 27 different weeds before they start. Or, if you need to fertilize your garden as well as prevent weeds, use Preen'n Green, the only flower and garden weed preventer plus fertilizer.

Both are ready-to-use, granular, safe and biodegradable. They're approved for 45 different flowers, 26 trees, 31 shrubs and 14 vegetables.

YOU CAN'T HAVE TOO MANY FRIENDS ADOPT - A - PET

The animals pictured on this page, and countless others, are waiting for you to take them home. A pet will give you love, trust, loyalty and affection, and all that is required in return is a little food, water and a warm place to sleep. That seems a small price to for the satisfaction of a wagging tail or a happy purr whenever you come home. When you go into your local animal shelter, open your heart and your home to one of these creatures, the rewards are well worth it!

Not All These People Were Born In America, But...

They're All Eligible To Work Here!

Does the foreign-born appearance or ability to speak fluent English affect your decision about hiring a prospective employee?

The answer to this question must be "NO!" If you are confused about the new anti-discrimination laws, you should know the following:

- Employees need not and must not discriminate against prospective employees who appear to be foreign-born.
- After hiring, complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form (I-9 Form). It accomplishes the task of verification of identity and employment authorization, simply and easily.

Don't let concerns about national origin, citizenship status or employment verification keep you from interviewing and hiring the best candidate. Hiring/firing/recruiting discrimination is against the law!

IF YOU HAVE A QUESTION ABOUT IMMIGRATION AND EMPLOYMENT DISCRIMINATION, CALL THE OFFICE OF THE SPECIAL COUNSEL AT 1-800-255-7688 (1-800-227-2515 TDD)

2 American entries compete with Japanese

Car and Driver, in the May 1990 edition, named what editors considered the seven best buys from the 1990 crop of automobiles.

And like the competition for the American car market, the Japanese dominated the field. Two American-produced entries, however, managed to crack the foreign-dominated "best buys" classification.

The Eagle Talon TSi all-wheel drive and the Ford Taurus L were named as the best value for consumers in the GT and the family-sedan categories, respectively.

The magazine noted the value of the vehicle, not necessarily the bottom-line sticker price as the requisite for "best-buy" status. In the case of the Talon, the base price was approximately $16,500. The car tested had options bringing the final price to nearly $19,100.

The Talon boasts a 195-horsepower, 2.0-liter turbocharged 16-valve engine which will move you from 0 to 60 mph in 6.3 seconds. Toss in an independent rear suspension, Goodyear Eagle GT-4 tires and alloy wheels to go with the sleek bodywork and the well-conceived ergonomics and it is no wonder the Talon managed to sneak past runners-up Mitsubishi Eclipse GSX and the Ford Mustang LX 5.0 as the best value in the GT field.

Downshifting, if you will, to the more sedate classification of the family sedan, Car and Driver discovered what car-buyers in the metro Detroit area have known since late 1985 — you can't beat a Ford.

At least not the Taurus L. The car won points in the best-buy battle with the also-ran Honda Accord LX and the Subaru

Spare Parts

John Agge

Legacy L with its aerodynamic styling, interior room for six (four adults) and tight European-styled suspension system.

The car the magazine tested had a base sticker price of $12,640 and an option package which boosted the price to $15,800. One option the editors strongly recommended is the 3.0 liter, V-6 engine.

The front-wheel drive car also has as standard equipment an air bag, tilt steering, electric mirrors, interval wipers and a redesigned dashboard.

"Not bad (the price) for a roomy, good-looking, sweet-driving sedan with a decent complement of creature comforts," Car and Driver editors said.

But we knew that, didn't we?

Auto parts trade under scrutiny

A group of United States congressmen from the industrial northeast region of the country, including Democrats Rep. Sander Levin and Sens. Donald Riegle and Carl Levin of Michigan, have joined in sponsoring a bipartisan bill to ensure fair trade with the Japanese in the auto parts industry.

The Fair Trade in Auto Parts Act of 1990 mandates the administration to investigate Japanese auto parts practices and to report to Congress on the volume of U.S. auto parts sales in the Japanese market. Currently, U.S. suppliers account for only one percent of the $60 billion-per-year Japanese auto parts market.

The bill would also require the Justice Department to investigate unfair methods of competition by foreign companies in this country.

"The U.S. auto parts deficit with Japan ballooned from $1.1 billion in 1980 to more than $5 billion in 1989 and that's not counting activity in the foreign trade zones," Levin said.

The last tenet in the bill would require the International Trade Commission to monitor purchases of U.S. auto parts by foreign companies located in the United States.

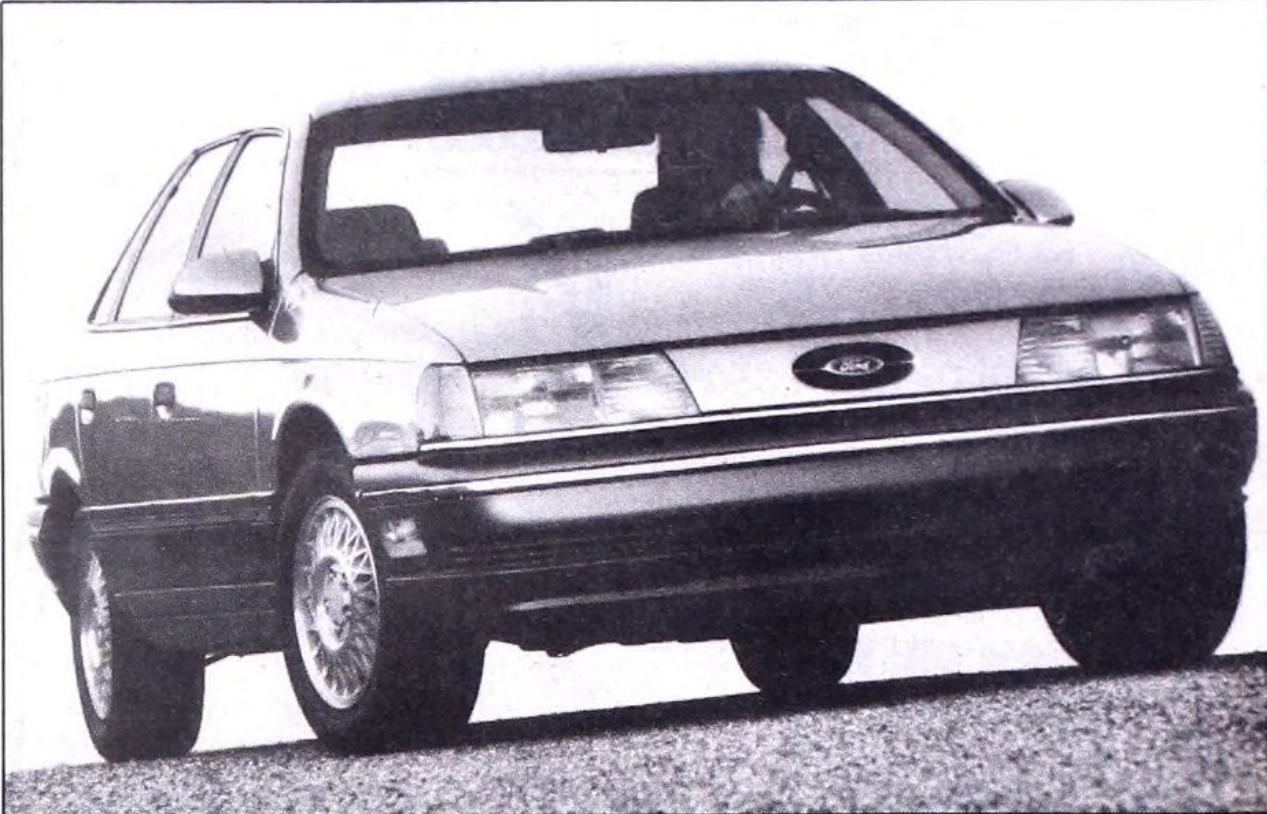

"We have been talking about Japanese auto parts trade practices since the mid-80s," Levin said. "Since then we've gotten almost nowhere."

Mazda seeks Ford help

On a more positive American-Japanese automobile manufacturing note, officials of the Mazda corporation announced recently they will commission the Ford Motor Co. to build a sport utility vehicle for them.

The announcement marks the first time a Japanese automaker has asked an American auto builder to create a vehicle for a foreign nameplate. Ford will build a two-door version of the newly introduced Explorer for Mazda, which will market them under the name Navajo.

The Mazda version of the Explorer will differ from the Ford

The popular Taurus L (above), was one of two American-made cars named to the Car and Driver "best buy" list. Another Ford product, the Explorer (right), will be marketed by the Mazda Corporation under the name Navajo. It is the first time an American automaker will produce a vehicle for any Japanese car builder. ANP file photos offering in only the grille, bumpers, taillights, wheels and interior trim. The rest of the vehicle will be identical to the two-door Explorer.

Mazda expects to sell 20,000 Navajos this model year, all of which will be built in the Ford Louisville plant.

Officials cited the fact they had no entry in the sport utility field, and might have missed the current trend by consumers to the utility truck purchase if they prepared a new vehicle themselves.

Little known facts of equal value

Opportunity knocked, and I ignored it. Yep, it happened to me again last week. I seem to have a knack for avoiding situations which might benefit me...especially financially.

All week, various and assundry radio stations were conducting those silly contests which continually annoy me. Let's face it, when I return to earth in the morning from whichever planet I spent my dreaming hours, I am not exactly seeking an intellectual challenge. Nope, not at all. All I want from these people is the sound of a human voice (or some semblance thereof) to make re-entry a bit more bearable.

But last week, all I got were these stupid contests about the best and worst advice your mother ever gave you. Listen, compared to my mother, Mildred, nobody who called had a chance. I knew I had the winners on both sides of the ledger, but I was too far from consciousness at that time of the night to make the phone call.

You doubt me? Come on. You tell me who can top telling a 10-year-old girl that pushing the lawnmower would build up her bosom. Or how about Mildred's proclamation that washing dishes would make one's fingernails grow? When it came to advice, nobody can top my mom. She's the one who got me in the house by twilight every night with her information that street light rays caused cancer.

And, she certainly hasn't lost her touch. Believe me. Not two weeks ago she told me all about WD-40. Now, having previously fended for myself for some time in the area of car and home repairs, I did know what this stuff was. It's a spray lubricant. You know, if a door hinge squeaks or something like a drawer sticks, you just squirt it with this stuff and everything is fine. If it doesn't work, you call a repairman, or a friend with a tool kit. This stuff is sold in hardware stores. Get it? Hardware stores. Like screwdrivers and hammers and paint and stuff.

According to Mildred, this junk cured her dog of the mange. Yep, you read it here first. My 87-year-old mother sprayed her beagle with this junk and she swears it cured him. Mildred declares that this dog had the worst case of the mange known in veterinary science, and she sprayed him with this stuff and it cured him.

It gets worse. Since the concoction worked so well on the poor dog, she decided that it would work on her as well, although she did not have the mange at the time. Nope, Mildred used it for her "arthritis" as she calls it. She claims she sprayed her hands "which were just all swole up terrible and I couldn't even do my rug-hooking kits" and in two days, she was cured and able to hook to her little hearts content.

Now, you figure it out. She confessed that she read about this miracle drug in one of those supermarket tabloid gossip sheets. Hey, that's where she found out about the 8-year-old girl who gave birth to Elvis' baby after being beamed aboard a ship from Venus, too, so don't knock it.

Now she tells me that if I take a green marker (ONLY green) and run it around the inside and outside edges of all my spouse's compact discs, it will improve the sound reproduction. She, of course, has no idea what this man would do to me if I attempted this little adventure into the realm of my husband's sound devices.

Although, she is the one who tipped me off to coating all my shoes with Vaseline and using toothpaste to take scratch marks off walls, which does work. Apparently, Elvis and the 8-year-old learned a few things from those Venusians.

Y'know, I'd really like to take a

Building a Sandwich

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Dagwood Bumstead made them an art generations ago, and the American love affair with the sandwich continues today.

What's not to love?

With a sandwich, we can shove a huge stack of food dripping with gooey sauce into our mouths, and it's perfectly acceptable. If anyone took a mouthful of food that size with a fork, words like "oinker" would start floating around the room.

And sandwiches allow for creativity. Someone in a hurry can cram an entire meal complete with all four food groups between two slices of bread.

Sue Christunas and her husband, David, have made the art of the sandwich their livelihood.

Two years ago they opened Lindsay's Lunchtime Deli in Westland (named for their 3-year-old daughter) and presented the community with a long list of sandwiches to choose from.

It is the smallest touches that add the most flair to a sandwich, Christunas said.

"Basically, add a lot of vegetables to it," she said.

Everything is good - lettuce, tomatoes, onions, cucumbers.

"Even alfalfa sprouts are great on sandwiches," Christunas said.

In fact, she added, a delicious sandwich can be made with nothing but vegetables. One of Christunas' personal favorites is a cold cucumber sandwich with sliced tomatoes.

Spreads are another simple tool for adding flair. Christunas suggested Thousand Island or Russian salad dressing, dijon mustard or horseradish.

"I carry fresh horseradish, and it is good," she said.

For sandwiches with cheese, try the unique. Hot pepper cheese, for instance, can add life to any sandwich.

Christunas said she carries a smoked cheddar cheese.

"It's very different. Once people try it, they really like it," she said.

As for meat, Christunas offered a sure secret for success.

"The thinner you cut it, the tastier it is. A thick slice of corned beef just isn't the same."

Corned beef and turkey are two of the most popular sandwich meats at the deli. The sandwich utilizing that demand is Dave's Choice. It teams turkey with swiss cheese, cole slaw and Russian dressing, all piled on unseeded rye bread.

Christunas pointed out packaging is an important element in sandwich making. Two slices of white bread cannot do justice to a carefully combined stack of fillings, she said.

Good alternatives include submarine sandwich rolls, pita bread, croissants, kaiser rolls and bagels.

Christunas selected another option for her deli. She makes bread daily - white, wheat, kaisers and seeded and unseeded rye.

If a sandwich calls for a huge pile of fillings, two thick slabs of bread is the best way to hold it together, Christunas said.

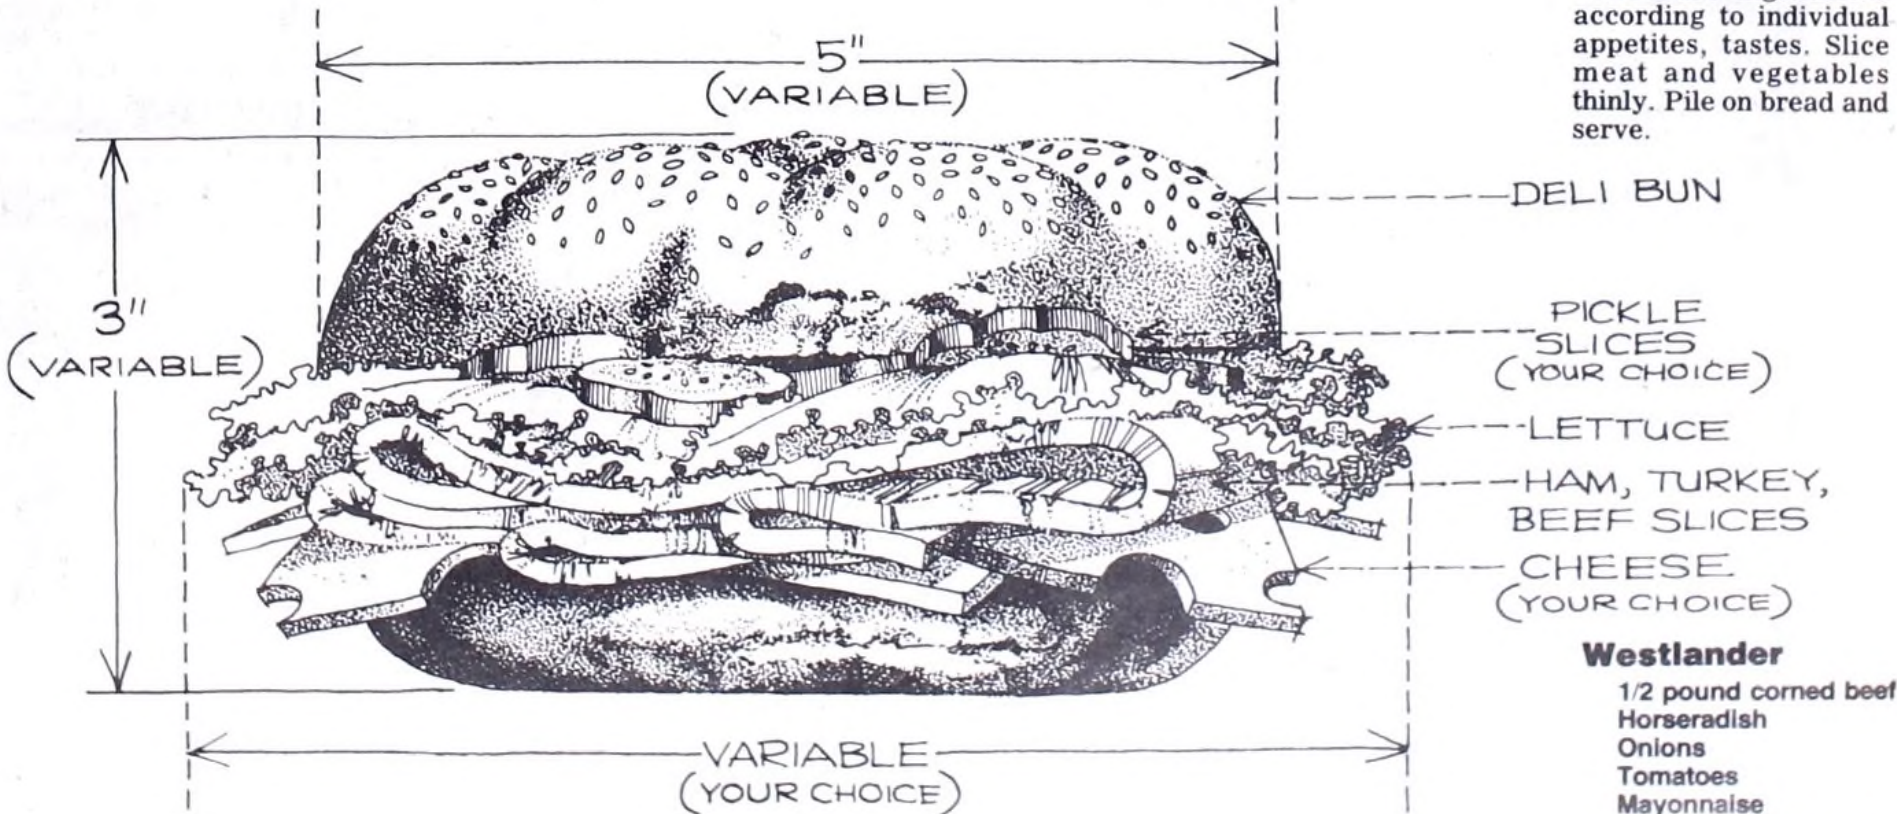

The recipes listed below for sandwiches and other goodies are from Christunas. She said the dessert is a best-seller at her deli.

Sue Christunas (above) is the owner of Lindsay's Lunchtime Deli in Westland offering a variety of sandwiches prepared with home-made breads. The deli is named for her daughter Lindsay (above).

TRAVEL

Scenic railroad offers getaway

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Have train will travel. The Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society has planned several weekend rail excursions this summer and fall, according to former president and founding member of the Bluewater Chapter, Dave White.

The Bluewater Michigan Chapter, which is dedicated to the preservation of railroad history, is in its eighth year of providing family trips in Michigan and the Midwest aboard trains powered by steam and diesel locomotives.

"We present railroad history in two ways," White said. "We purchase and preserve rail and freight cars, and offer people rail trips so they can experience rail history firsthand."

The society members are restoring two freight cars that were built between 1912 and 1915, and have restored 15 passenger cars that range in age from 40 to 50 years old, he said.

The restored trains are an important part of the travel excursions offered by the Blue Water Chapter which is based in Royal Oak.

Train travel outings are enjoyed by people of all ages, White said.

"Older passengers become nostalgic, remembering good memories of traveling on trains when they were growing up, and younger passengers are amazed by the power of a steam locomotive as it pulls into the station," he said.

The memories and fun will begin July 14, as passengers will board a steam-powered train for the "Steam to Fort Wayne," a one-day rail excursion, White said.

The train will leave Allen Park at 8:30 a.m. and will head to Milan to pick up more passengers, and then proceed directly to Fort Wayne, Indiana.

A coal-fired Norfolk and Western steam locomotive, which has been refurbished by Norfolk at the tune of $2 million, will pull more than twenty coaches and service cars for the Fort Wayne trip.

White said the Norfolk locomotive was built at the end of World War II, was used to haul coal throughout the 1950s. It was a recent museum piece. "Travelers will experience a scenic trip through southeastern Michigan and northwestern Ohio woodlands and farm lands," said White who has enjoyed traveling this route a number of times.

During the trip, travelers will enjoy either premium service, first class, or coach accommodations. The round-trip fares for the three sections are: $69 adult coach; $54 child coach (ages 5-16); $140 premium service; and $195 first-class service.

Passengers traveling in the premium service will have access to a lounge car and snack car. First-class passenger can enjoy a lounge car, and will be served breakfast and lunch, he said.

Coffee and hors d'oeuvres will be available for all passengers.

Upon arrival, travelers will be able to participate in the historic Fort Wayne "Three Rivers Festival."

According to White, the "Three Rivers Festival" is a nationally rate tour stop with numerous activities including boat races and historic celebrations.

The train will return to Michigan at 9:30 p.m.

Following the "Steam to Fort Wayne," the Blue Water Chapter will offer the "Trains for Danes," "Michigan Festival Limited" during the summer.

White said, three more "rail excursions" will be offered in the fall. The season will finish with the extremely popular "Edison Express" Oct. 6 and 7.

He said for more information, call the Bluewater Michigan Chapter at 399-7963.

Old steam engines pulling long lines of railroad cars may provide you with the perfect weekend getaway this summer.

SPAIN'S INCOMPARABLE DELIGHTS

A visit to Spain will provide you with the incomparable delights of a proud nation with a rich heritage. A drive through the Andalusian sierras will bring you to Cordoba, the Moorish Mecca of the West. It was here in 1486 that Columbus had his first interview with Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand about his proposed voyage of discovery. Cordoba is also the site of La Mezquita, home to one of the largest mosques in the world.

Granada is another Spanish city that preserves many reminders of its Moorish past, including the Generalife, the summer palace, fountains, and gardens of the Moorish kings. Here you will also find the palace of Charles V and the magnificent tombs of Ferdinand and Isabella.

In Toledo you can visit the famous Cathedral Primada and view paintings by El Greco. In Madrid, another city in central Spain, you can visit the fabulous Prado, home to one of the richest art collections in the world.

There are a great variety of tour programs available from escorted tours by motorcoach to Fly/Drive packages for more independent touring. We will be happy to suggest the program most suitable for your needs.

Local youngsters join world of literature as fiction writers

By DAWN E. ABFALTER
ANP Staff Writer

Winners were announced in the third annual Westland Cultural Society Writing Contest.

On May 7 winning students from grades four through nine, were announced in the citywide "Fantastic Fiction" writing competition. There were 179 entries and the winning story topics ranged from talking dogs to an ice cream rap group.

Top honors were shared among: Sammy Plymale, fourth grade; Shatal Bell, seventh grade; and Debra Dimitri, eighth grade.

The senior division included grades eight and nine. Debra Dimitri, eighth grade, Adams Junior High School, placed first with her story "A Miracle?". Second prize went to Kristie Lopota, ninth grade, Adams Junior High School, for her story. Honorable mention was shared by Adams Junior High School students including: Suzanne Kempainen, eighth grade, for her story "The Cottage"; Jennifer McMillan, ninth grade, for her story "The Girl in the Mirror"; Melissa Thompson, ninth grade, for her story "Adventures with Art".

The intermediate division included grades six and seven. First prize was awarded to Shatal Bell, seventh grade, Franklin Junior High School, for her story "The Magic Hat". John Webster, sixth grade, Nankin Mills elementary, was awarded second prize for his story "A Fable of Contents". Honorable mention was shared with: Capri Hernandez, sixth grade, Fischer elementary, for the story "No Hair Claire"; Brandy Hooks, seventh grade, Franklin Junior High School, for the story "Popsicle 'n' the New Jack Swing"; Denisha, seventh grade, Franklin Junior High School, for the story "Lucky".

The junior division included grades four and five. First prize was awarded to Sammy Plymale, fourth grade, Walker elementary for the story "The Magic Mailbox". Chris Trevarthen, fifth grade, P.D. Graham elementary, won second prize for the story "The Search for the Golden Temple of El Herando". Honorable Mention was shared with Dary Bemis, fifth grade, Stottlemeyer elementary, for the story "Meatball mysteries, Case #3:

The Jammed Diary"; Jaime Grassi, fourth grade, C.P. Titus elementary, for the story "The Magical Butterfly Princess"; Mandy DiMassa, fourth grade, Stottlemeyer elementary, for the story "Lo Chin Wong in the Wonderful Land".

Each of the first-prize winners will receive a $100 savings bond and their stories will be published in "Fantastic Fiction", a contest publication. The second-place winners will receive a $20 gift certificate from Harvard Books, Westland, a reference book selected by the cultural society and publication in "Fantastic Fiction". Honorable mentions will be listed in bound copies of the contest booklet and all winners will receive framed certificates of merit.

Presentation of the awards will be May 16 at the Bailey Center. The top six winning stories will be read aloud.

The contest judges include: Rob Kantner, private-eye novelist and Shamus Award winner whose fifth novel, "Made in Detroit", will be published in June; and Sarah Wolf, author of "The Harbinger Effect".

Food

Graham cracker layers

Graham crackers
Butter or margarine
1 package chocolate chips
1/2 package peanut butter or butterscotch chips
Walnuts
Shredded coconut
1 can sweetened condensed milk

Crush graham crackers to coat bottom of nine-by-nine square pan. Melt butter. Pour over graham cracker and compress to form crust. Pour on chocolate chips. Add peanut butter or butterscotch chips. Pour on thin layer of chopped walnuts. Sprinkle with shredded coconut. Top layers with sweetened condensed milk. Bake a half-hour to 45 minutes in 350-degree oven. Cool. Cut into squares.

Cucumber sandwiches

1 cucumber
1/2 medium tomato
Alfalfa sprouts
(optional)
Pita bread

All ingredients should be chilled. Slice cucumber and tomato thinly. Put inside pita bread pocket with sprouts. Add Thousand Island salad dressing if desired.

Desserts

look at that dog, just in case.

Here is one of Mildred's sure-fire winners. I vouch for it, honest. Hey, would one "enquiring mind" kid another?

Mildred's banana cream pie

1 1/4 cups vanilla wafer crumbs (about 55 wafers)
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
5 tablespoons melted, unsalted butter

Mix together the ingredients. Remove 1/4 cup of the crumb mixture and reserve. Press the remaining mixture evenly over the bottom and up the sides of a 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes or until golden-brown. Cool on a wire rack.

1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon salt

In a heavy saucepan, stir sugar, cornstarch and salt, pressing out any lumps with the back of a spoon. Then in order, add

1/4 cup cold milk

3 large egg yolks, beaten

When this mixture is smooth, stir in

2 cups scalded milk

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly. As soon as the mixture begins to thicken, turn the heat to low and continue to cook, stirring constantly, until thick and bubbly, about 1 minute longer. If the mixture threatens to become lumpy, remove it from heat at once and stir vigorously until smooth. When thick, remove from the heat and gently stir in, in this order

2 tablespoons soft unsalted butter

1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

Let cool 10 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent a film from forming on top. Spoon one-third of the filling into the cooled crust. Peel and slice into 1/4-inch slices over this filling

2 ripe bananas

Spoon and scrape the remaining filling over the bananas. Sprinkle the reserved crumb mixture over the top. Chill until firm, at least 3 hours. Serve plain or topped with sweetened whipped cream. Keep refrigerated.
